

I strongly support the ARRL licence restructuring proposal.
I have possessed a technician class license now for 5 years.
I have attempted to pass the 5 wpm Morse Code test to gain access to the HF bands and have not been successful. The International community has for the most part dropped the Morse Code requirements.
Eventually those in the U.S. will be sending Morse Code into the airwaves and no one will be responding. This code requirement is outdated and should be done away with.
